

Subject: Revised Citizenship Documentation Requirement from the Deficit Reduction Act of 2005

List of Acceptable Documentation

The Deficit Reduction Act (DRA) 2005, Section 6036, Improved Enforcement of Documentation Requirements, prohibits states from receiving federal reimbursement for medical assistance provided under Medicaid to an individual who has not provided satisfactory documentary evidence of citizenship or nationality and identity. This provision applies to initial determinations and re-determinations for medical assistance made on or after July 1, 2006.

Active SSI and Medicare consumers are exempt from the requirement to provide evidence of citizenship and identity. The state must give current Medicaid consumers a “reasonable opportunity period” to provide documents establishing U.S. citizenship or nationality and identity consistent with its administrative requirements. If consumers are unable to provide it at the initial request made on or after July 1, 2006, the state may allow them to provide the required documentation of citizenship and identity at the time of their next complete re-determination. However, new applicants for Medicaid must provide proof of citizenship and identity before eligibility can be determined.

The Health and Human Services Commission (HHSC) has recently published a listing of additional sources for documenting both citizenship and identity. The following pages include all the sources that can be used to document both citizenship and identity.

Staff should be tactful when informing consumers of this requirement and can assist with obtaining proof of citizenship. In allowing current Medicaid consumers a “reasonable opportunity period” HHSC does not anticipate having a significant number of denials or disqualifications.

If a DADS applicant or consumer has a question regarding the citizenship documentation requirement, they should be referred to their HHSC eligibility worker or instructed to call 2-1-1, option 2, to request the location of the nearest HHSC benefits office for assistance.

Acceptable Documentation for Both Citizenship and Identity

Supplemental Security Income (SSI) Recipients

Active SSI recipients are exempt from the requirement to provide evidence of citizenship and identity. The Social Security Administration (SSA) documents citizenship and identity for SSI recipients.

Medicare Recipients

Active Medicare recipients are exempt from the requirement to provide evidence of citizenship and identity. SSA documents citizenship and identity for Medicare recipients.

Other Individuals

The following primary evidence documents may be accepted as proof of both identity and citizenship:

- A U.S. passport,
- A Certificate of Naturalization (N-550 or N-570), or
- A Certificate of U.S. Citizenship (N-560 or N-561)

If an individual does not provide one of these primary evidence documents that establish both U.S. citizenship and identity, the individual must provide two documents:

- One document that establishes U.S. citizenship, and
- One document that establishes identity

Documents that establish citizenship are divided into second, third and fourth levels based on the reliability of the evidence. The levels of evidence of citizenship are outlined in topic, Levels of Evidence of Citizenship and Acceptable Evidence of Identity Reference Guide. The guide also includes acceptable documents for evidence of identity.

Levels of Evidence of Citizenship and Acceptable Evidence of Identity Reference Guide

Note: Current SSI recipients and individuals entitled to or enrolled in Medicare are exempt from the citizenship documentation requirement for Medicaid.

Primary Evidence of Citizenship and Identity
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• U.S. passport• Certificate of Naturalization• Certificate of U.S. citizenship• SDX for denied SSI recipients when the denial reason is for any reason other than citizenship (N13)

- SOLQ/WTPY and documentation on reason for Medicare denial

If primary evidence of citizenship is not available, the individual must provide two documents, one to establish U.S. citizenship and one to establish identity. Acceptable evidence of identity documents is outlined last in this reference guide.
